

ETHOS BIO:

Rebekah D. Mathis-Stump, JD

OWNER

An analyst and solution-generator by nature, Becky works with clients to identify their needs and develops a plan of action to reach their desired results.

- + Becky's core values include three ideas that frame her work inside Ethos – live authentically, develop self and others, and embrace challenge. Those concepts lead her to start every interaction with individuals, teams, and organizations with a series of questions about who they are and where they want to be. With those markers in place, Becky helps clients explore ideas and build systems that honor their leadership identity and organizational culture and place their goals within reach.
 - + Before joining Ethos Leadership Group, Becky spent ten years working in higher education, where she supervised and mentored individuals who obtained senior leadership positions, led strategic visioning and planning processes, guided recruiting and retention efforts that resulted in record student enrollments, and directed daily support activities for comprehensive, multi-million dollar fundraising campaigns.
 - + Becky earned her Doctor of Jurisprudence from West Virginia University College of Law, where she was awarded a life membership in The Order of Barristers—a national honor society recognizing excellence in oral advocacy.
 - + Becky lived in numerous states growing up, finally claiming West Virginia as home after marrying a native son, Jeff Stump. She enjoys reading, golfing, and cheering on the West Virginia University Mountaineers.
